THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.

Although only six States elect Governors this fall, for an off year the November elections will have unusual interest because of their bearing on national politics and the Presidential campaign of 1908.

Mississippi and Kentucky may be conceded to the Democrats. But in Maryland, which the Democrats carried for Warfield in 1903 by 12,685, the following year the Presidential vote was so close that one of Roosevelt electors was chosen.

The Rhode Island Democrats last year elected Higgins Governor by 1,318, but they lost the State to Roosevelt in 1904 by 16,766. Of the two Representatives in Congress elected last year Granger if a Democrat and Capron a Republican.

In 1904 the Republicans carried New Jersey for Roosevelt by 80,598, and for Stokes for Governor by 51,644. Last year, however, the Democrats had a majority of two in the State Assembly.

Guild was elected Governor of Massachusetts last year by 30,203; but the tariff-revision issue, if the Democrats are capable of taking advantage of it, may be a determining factor in the pending election.

General significance will also attach to the election in New York of two Judges of the Court of Appeals, the Assembly and possibly of the State Senate. Among the State officials elected last year Gov. Hughes was the only Republican.

Nebraska, Mr. Bryan's State, will elect only minor State officials. In 1906 Sheldon, Republican, defeated Shallenberger, Democrat, for Governor by 12,973.

The Roosevelt Administration and the Taft Presidential candidacy are directly involved in the Cleveland Mayoralty contest because of the open indorsement of Representative Burton by President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft. Because of the uncertainty of the result and the importance of the issue, none of the State elections will command a more general interest than the Cleveland contest.

Out Of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind," is an old saying which applies with special force to a sore, burn or wound that's been treated with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It's out of sight, and out of mind and out of existence. Piles too and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by T. E. Paull, Druggist. 25c.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Love needs no lexicon.

Consternation is not conversion.

A soft answer may be a stiff argument.

This would be a sad world without sorrow.

Honeyed lips cannot overcome a vinegar life.

Forbearance is one evidence of forgiveness.

The great success is to be able to serve.

People without reverses are never successes.

There is no illumination in the oil of hypocrisy.

Gentle sins are likely to have rough consequences.

When you borrow trouble you need not look for a dun.

It is aspiration that makes life respiration.

It is safer to be finical with sin, than to be familiar with it.

The sins in our house are never so large as those next door.

The putty of pride may hide the crack, but it cannot heal it.

He best prays to his Father who provides for his brother.

Heaven is not satisfied with fine linen instead of fine living.

When you shut your eyes in prayer you open the heart on heaven.

When religion is but recreation life is likely to become desecration.

There is something crooked in the conscience that insists only on eccentricity.

When a man feels that ten cents a week is all he ought to pay for his religion, he is throw-away his money for what he will get.

A Criminal Attack

on an inoffensive citizen is frequently made in that apparently useless little tube call "appendix." It's generally the result of protracted constipations following liver torpor. Dr. King's New Life Pills regulate the liver, prevent appendicitis, and establish regular habit of the bowels. 25c. at T. E. Paull, drug store.

GREAT TRUTHS.

A greedy man God hates.

A great mark is soonest hit.

A great tree hath a great fall.

A hasty man never wants woe.

A hungry man is an angry man.

A honey tongue, a heart of gall.

A great ship must have deep water.

A great reputation is a great charge.

A happy heart makes a happy visage.

A guilty conscience needs no accuser.

A jest driven too far brings home fate.

A handful of trade is a handful of gold.

A headstrong man and a fool may wear the same cap.

A joyful evening may follow a sorrowful morning.

A great man's foolish saying pass for wise ones.

A handsaw is a good thing, but not to shave with.

A joke never gains an enemy but often loses a friend.

A handful of common sense is worth a bushel of learning.

A great man will not trample on a worm, nor speak to an emperor.—Ex.

HEARD GOVERNOR BY TELEPHONE.

Glasgow, Ky., Sept. 19.—The people throughout Barren and surrounding counties and as far back as Celina Tenn., and Monticello, Ky., a distance of seventy-five miles, were treated to a novel surprise Monday, each one who owned a telephone being able to distinctly hear and clearly understand every word of Governor Beckham's speech at the Courthouse here.

Mr. John J. Giezantner, the popular manager of the Gainsboro, Telephone Company here, made connection and placed a transmitter in such a position at the Courthouse that all who cared to within the distance mentioned could listen to the Governor's speech. Many who were a considerable distance away and only partially familiar with the use of a telephone could hardly believe their own ears when they heard the voice of their executive making appeals to them miles and miles away as if he stood before them.

It was the first experiment of this kind ever tried here, and was a complete success.

FARMERS ARE PROSPEROUS.

The American farmers' earnings are a thousand million dollars greater this year than last, according to a preliminary report on crops which will be published in next issue of the American Agriculturalist. This big gain will be entirely due to the increased prices of farm products, as the production in general will be fully ten per cent. less in quantity than in 1906, the bumper year. "The farmer was never in so healthy a position as he is today, financially, socially, politically, mentally and spiritually," says the report. The increase in the value of his real estate has been prodigious. He owes less money than ever before. He has greater assets than ever. Again, the farmers' wants are greater. He is in the market for more and better breeding stock, farm implements household goods and other merchandise.

Candidate Hager is holding to the same views with reference to all other such measures that Citizen Hager has held up for years, and it is, therefore, not a hard thing for him to do to go before the people and firmly and without equivocation state in every instance his position in such matters. Few days ago some one called him out on the matter of the Sunday closing law, presuming that he would not oppose the views of Mayor Tyler in Louisville. But he did so. He told them emphatically that, if elected Governor he would not in any instance sanction the repeal of the law enforcing the closing of saloons on Sunday. You know what Hager will do; you may guess at what Wilson would do.
